Index to Theses

What is Index to Theses?
Index to Theses is a comprehensive listing of theses with abstracts accepted for higher degrees by universities in Great Britain and Ireland since 1716.

Accessing Index to Theses
Index to Theses is accessed via the E-resources Guide.

1. To open the E-resources Guide, go to: http://subjectguides.york.ac.uk/e-resources
2. When the E-resources Guide has opened select the I-J tab from the A-Z list at the top of the screen. An alphabetically list of resources is then displayed.
3. Click on Index to Theses (UK). You may be asked to log in with your IT Services username and password. The resource will now open in a new window.

Searching Theses

Click on Search and then click on Standard Search.

The screen shot shows an example search for the influence of the civil war on Milton’s Paradise Lost:

!Standard Search

Viewing your results

Click on the link to see the record page of any result that interests you.

Sometimes there will be an abstract, which can be useful in determining whether a thesis will be of relevance.

If there is a known online full-text access route, it will be given as a Routes to full text link at the top of the record. Otherwise you will need to order an item of interest through the Library’s Interlending service. For more information about Interlending see www.york.ac.uk/library/borrowing/interlending

If a thesis is of interest, make a note of the details, or print out the record using the print options in your web browser.

① For more help with this database, please contact your Academic Liaison Librarian, http://subjectguides.york.ac.uk